THE MEETING TO-NIGHT.

Let it not be forgotten by the members of the Republican party, that, to-night, at City Hall, will be held a grand mass meeting to ratify the nomination of our fellow-citizen, H. W. WILLIAMS, for the Supreme bench. As this will be the opening of a spirited campaign, it is a matter of no little consequence that there be large attendance on the part of the patriotic masses. Some of the most brilliant political orators of the county will be present to address the meeting, and an excellent band of music will enliven the occasion. As the "banner county" has been complimented in the selection of one of her citizens to be the standard bearer of the party in the State, let his nomination be ratified by such a meeting as will speak in no unmistakable terms in acknowledgement of the honor, and in determination to secure his election. Everybody is invited to attend, and we sincerely trust the hall may be filled to its utmost capacity.

THE INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE.

MR. SENATOR BIGHAM informs us that he will request the Judiciary Committee, of which he is Chairman, to meet in this city, and that it, doubtless, will meet here in the course of two or three weeks from this date. Thus, a fair opportunity will be presented for all persons who are complaining of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, in the matter of charges upon freight, to present all the facts they are possessed of in a formal and authoritative way. If that Company discriminates unreasonably against Pittsburgh, surely the facts can be made to appear. If our people will not take the little trouble requisite in the case, the evils they endure cannot be serious. Gentlemen! do not wait to be called upon. As many of you as have facts, not at third hands, but at first hands, so as to be admissible as testimony, send your names to Mr. Bigham, and he will see that you are summoned as witnesses. Have done with mere grumbling, and put the matter in definite and tangible shape.

INCOME TAXES.

In the Twenty-second Revenue District of Pennsylvania, in which this city is situated, business men of all sorts are compelled to return their accounts as income. The meaning of the word would seem to forbid such a construction. That is income which comes in to a man's pocket; not that which stays out. In other districts, moreover, as we know from experience, the Assessors recognize this distinction. In making our return, in our proper district early in the spring, we called the attention of the Assessor to this point; and he promptly replied that there was no rule of law or of common sense by which accounts unrealized and contingent could be regarded for purposes of taxation as gains of business. He farther stated that no return of that sort had been exacted in the district. If a taxpayer elected to compute his accounts as equal to cash, the government did not interpose to prevent him, but it asked no one to do so. We understand that appeals have been made against the ruling of the Assessor here, on this head, and believe that ruling will not be sustained. It clearly ought not to be.

WE have hitherto directed attention to the large number of new buildings now being erected in the city and the boroughs and townships surrounding. We think the number of dwellings, stores and cottage-houses going up within the limits of the proposed consolidated city will exceed two thousand—probably reach three thousand. The exorbitant rents exacted by property holders have not been without good results, driving hundreds of workingmen and small capitalists into the praiseworthy ambition of supplying themselves with homes of their own. The growth of the city can hardly be estimated, there being no statistics available, and unless the ground is gone over and the number of new buildings counted, no definite result can be obtained; but that it is increasing on all sides with great rapidity is patent to the most casual observer. Some attribute to the prospect of early consolidation the new impetus given to improvement in this direction, and perhaps they are right. With all the benefits and protection derived from a well managed city, the districts now improved outside of our present limits will greatly enhance in value and the surplus population will not be slow to erect new houses on sites now neglected or little thought of as places suitable for building purposes.

FROM THE following letter of General GRANT to General ORD, it will be remarked that he takes a decided stand against the President and Attorney General STANBERY in their interpretation of the Reconstruction act. Coming from GRANT the letter is peculiarly significant. Here is what he says:

[Gen. Grant to Gen. Ord, June 22.]

GENERAL: Copy of your final instructions to board of registration, of June 10, 1867, is just received. I entirely dissent from the views contained in paragraph 4. Your views as to the duties of registers to register every man who will take the required oath, though they may know the applicant perjures himself, is sustained by the views of the Attorney General. My opinion is, that it is the duty of the board of registration to see, as far as it lies in their power, that no unauthorized person is allowed to register. To secure this end, registers should be allowed to administer oaths and examine witnesses. The law, however, makes district commanders their own interpreters of their power and duty under it, and, in my opinion, the Attorney General or myself can no more than give our opinion as to the meaning of the law. Neither can enforce their views against the judgment of those made responsible for the faithful execution of the law—the district commanders.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
U. S. GRANT, General.

WE fear GRANT'S chances now for the support of the Post for the Presidency are by no means so brilliant as heretofore.

THE American Standard, of Uniontown, Pa., published by Messrs. Johnston & Miller, comes to us this week in an entire new dress. It is one of the ablest of our country exchanges, and is conducted with much care and ability. Fearlessly advocating the great principles of the Union Republican party, and invariably right on all questions of State and National politics, it is eminently worthy of the large share of public patronage it enjoys. It has a large circulation, and presents unusual inducements to advertisers desiring to extend their trade in that section of the State.

THE PRESIDENT is preparing his veto of the Reconstruction bill, and will have it ready to-morrow. After the bill shall be passed over his veto, he will probably promise to aid in the execution of it, and forthwith go to work to frustrate it.

LAST WEEK there were four hundred and twenty-one deaths in Philadelphia, ninety-nine of which were from the cholera infantum.

—A Texas correspondent says that State has all the advantages of the Northwest in cheap, rich lands, and all the advantages of the South in a genial climate. —In cleaning out a reservoir at Saint Louis, used for supplying the city with water, the bodies of thirty-three children were found. They varied in size from those a span long to those of some thirty inches in length; and in age from those of no age in particular to those of 18 to 20 months. There was likewise a great variety as to preservation. Some were pure skeletons, and others were fresh as if just thrown in; and between these two extremes were found all possible stages of decomposition.

—A London correspondent of the New York Times says: For two days the Hon. Mrs. Yelverton has been pleading her own case before the House of Lords, the court of last appeal in England. She has a strong case, and she has presented it strongly. Within twelve months Major Yelverton went into two churches, knelt at two altars, and solemnly promised to be the true and faithful husband of two women. First he went into a Catholic Church and was married to a Catholic, Miss Longworth, in Ireland. Next he went into a Scottish Church and was married to Mrs. Forbes, a Protestant. An Irish Court and jury declared the first marriage valid. A Scottish Court declared the second the true marriage. The Lords are now called upon to decide between them. The motion is to compel Major Yelverton to come upon the stand and say, under oath, Did you or did you not marry Theresa Longworth?

—The Troy, New York, Times says: "Within thirty miles of this city there is a fountain throwing a stream of water higher than any other on the continent, probably in the world. We allude to the one recently completed and put in operation by Mr. S. B. Hunt, at his beautiful country seat, Maple Grove, Bennington. Mr. Hunt had tapped a mountain spring about three and a half miles from his residence, at an elevation of three hundred and twenty-five feet, and conducts the water through pipe six inches in diameter, and four feet and a half deep. The water may be let on through a variety of jets. The one in use on Wednesday was a plain one and a quarter inch nozzle, and the height of the column of water thrown was one hundred and fifty-four feet. It is truly a magnificent sight to see that body of water continuously rising or rather maintained at that hight. Mr. Hunt has expended $20,000 in the construction of the fountain."

CONGRESS

In Extraordinary Session.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 15th, 1867.

SENATE.

Mr. SHERMAN took his seat.

The Chair presented an invitation to the Senate to attend the dedication ceremonies of the Antietam Cemetery on the 17th inst.

After Executive session, the Senate took up the House Joint Resolution appropriating $1,675,000 to carry out the Reconstruction Acts.

It was considered and amended, on motion of Mr. BUCKALEW, by reducing the amount to one million dollars, and then passed.

The House Bill for the relief of certain soldiers and sailors charged with desertion was debated and referred to the Military Committee.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE PRESIDENT.

The CHAIR laid before the Senate a communication from the President, transmitting all orders, opinions, &c., sent to District Commanders, and estimating the amount necessary to carry on the work of reconstruction.

DEBTS OF REBEL STATES.

Mr. HOWARD, referring to that portion of the message in which the President alludes to the assumption by the United States of debts of rebel States incurred before the war, said it was all moonshine, designed for party purposes.

Mr. HENDRICKS said the President had not expressed any opinion on that subject. He merely made the suggestion that when the Southern States were to be treated as conquered provinces, the United States would have to pay the debts of these States. This doctrine had been laid down by Governor Morton, of Indiana, two years ago, in a speech endorsing the President's policy.

Mr. SUMNER said, that as a question of law, there was nothing surer than that the rebel States were responsible for all just debts. The States still existed, and their just obligations incurred in them, and they could not be evaded.

Mr. JOHNSON thought it was not admissable for the President to express a hypothetical opinion on the subject of public finances at the present time, when the debt was so large and the people so sensitive on the subject of its increase. He did not believe the President was correct in his assumptions that the Southern States still existed as States, and not as conquered provinces.

Mr. HENDRICKS did not think the Government could rightfully be bound to pay the debts of the Southern States, contracted before the war. The object of the war, as avowed by Congress, was not the conquest of these States, but the suppression of the rebellion. In the event, however, of the entire absorption of the States by the Federal Government, it would be a practical question of great moment whether the obligations of these states would rest on the General Government.

Mr. HOWARD again took the floor in opposition to the views of the President, which he said were calculated to alarm capitalists all over the country.

Mr. WILSON said this message was in perfect keeping with the action of the President during the last two years. The President had, during that time, lost no occasion to allude to the bonded aristocracy, and to say what he could in disparagement of Congress and everything connected with its policy of reconstruction. The policy of Congress would increase the value of the national debt and debt of the rebel States.

Mr. FESSENDEN was glad the message met no response or endorsement in the Senate. He regretted that the President had sent in such a document. It might have a bad effect, were it not that all intelligent people would see through its fallacies. It had been made on the conquest of the Southern States, so the doctrine of the conquest could not be made applicable.

Mr. BUCKALEW denied that the President favored assumption of the rebel debt. He was simply suggesting that on the theory and doctrines that prevailed lately in Congress such a state of facts must be brought about.

Mr. THAYER condemned the position of the President, as asserted in the message, as another attempt to throw an obstacle in the way of reconstruction. He thought the Senate should treat it with the utmost indifference.

The Message was ordered to be printed. Adjourned.

THE SURRATT TRIAL.

Offer to Show Surratt was in the Employ of Confederate Government to Gain Information Concerning Rebel Prisons and How Guarded.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 15, 1867.

Judge Fisher decided the register of the Webster House, at Canandaigua should not be allowed to go to the jury for the present, the book having been at the mercy of anybody for over two years. If the defense had proved by any creditable witness the entry of the name of John Harrison, in the regular course of business, on the 15th of April, the book might go in evidence as a fact made at the time of its occurrence.

Mr. Bradley stated he was in a condition to show by evidence that Surratt was not in the United States between the 18th of April, 1865, and September of that year; that he remained in Canada, and it could be shown he was in charge of friends there all the time and never left until he went out of the country. He proposed to offer that evidence; witnesses were on their way here who would state these facts, and were persons of the very highest respectability.

Wm. Farling re-called—Nothing important elicited.

Jas. N. Dubarry, residing at Harrisburg, and General Superintendent of the Northern Central Railroad, testified—No train passed Harrisburg from Baltimore April 15th, 1865, that could have reached Elmira that night.

Francis Fitch, Assistant to previous witness, at Elmira, but residing at Williamsport in '65, gave the same testimony about movements of trains about the time of the assassination.

Colonel Patrick M'Donough, of Philadelphia, testified that John Lee's character was very bad, and would not believe him under oath.

Colonel H. A. Cooke and Jno. Donnell testified to the same effect.

E. G. Lee, Brigadier General in the Confederate army, testified that he was in Canada on the 16th of April, 1865, on sick leave. Saw Surratt April 16th, 1865. He brought a dispatch to witness.

Mr. Pierrepont objected to the dispatch.

Mr. Bradley said the prosecution had shown that Surratt was in Canada as the bearer of a dispatch to General Lee, and he intended to settle there, but was employed by General Lee on business at Elmira, and was there on the 13th, 14th and 15th of April, 1865; that he was not in that place to assist in the conspiracy, but on a secret mission of a different character, and he received no money from Jacob Thompson.

Mr. Pierrepont objected. It was contrary to every principle of law.

The Court took a recess, and on reassembling, Mr. Bradley offered and read to the Court the following paper:

On the further trial of this case, the defendant offers to give in evidence, tending to show, first, that on the 6th of April, 1865, he arrived in Montreal, Canada, and was a bearer of a dispatch from Mr. Benjamin, Secretary of State of the Confederate States, to witness E. G. Lee, which dispatch related to and directed the disposition of the funds in the hands of Jacob Thompson, named in the testimony of the prosecution, and shows that no part of the same was to be paid, nor was there any paid to prisoner, or to any one charged in the indictment in this case as concerned in the conspiracy therein alleged, and in point of fact what disposition was to be made of said funds; second, the Government having also given evidence tending to show that the prisoner was in Elmira after the 12th, and before the 18th of April, 1865, and was co-operating with the alleged assassins of the President, and prisoner having given evidence tending to show he was in point of fact in Elmira on the 13th, 14th and 15th of April, 1865, he now offers further to prove that on the 12th of April, 1865, then being in Montreal, he was specially employed by the witness, E. G. Lee, then holding the commission of Brigadier General of the army of the Confederate States, and absent on sick leave in said Montreal, to visit Elmira with a view to ascertain the position and condition of Confederate prisoners confined at or near Elmira, and to make sketches of the stations of guards and of the approaches to the said prisons, and also the numbers of the army and troops there—that in point of fact the prisoner was in Montreal on the afternoon of said 12th day of April, to go to Elmira, and was absent until the 17th day of April, on which day or the next succeeding he returned to Montreal, and made his report and brought back with him what purported to be made sketches of said prison and its approaches, and the number of forces, and that he paid the prisoner for his expenses and services; third, that the prisoner having left Washington, as given in evidence by the prosecution, on the 25th of March, reached Richmond on the 29th of said month, and on the 31st of March was charged by Mr. Benjamin, Secretary of State, as aforesaid, with a dispatch for witness, E. G. Lee, at Montreal, where he arrived, as hereinbefore stated, on the 6th of April, where he remained until the 12th of April, all of which, and each of the several parts, are offered, tending to show the whereabouts of the prisoner, and to show in point of fact how he was occupied from the 25th of March to the 17th of April, and also to show that he did not receive money from Jacob Thompson, which, it is pretended by the prosecution, he did receive.

Mr. Pierrepont stated there were several points in the proposition to which he did not object.

The Court said the proper way would be to place the witness on the stand and put the questions to him, which could be considered and decided on as they were asked.

Witness was then placed on the stand and questioned as to the points mentioned in the above, which were ruled out by the Court.

Witness resumed—He had opportunity of seeing the prisoner in Canada on the 12th of April, and had been at the hotel, but did not remember that he saw him on that day; did not see him on the day he left Montreal to come to the United States. Witness was not aware, of his own knowledge, that Surratt had left Canada for the United States. Witness lost sight of him for several days after witness saw him at Montreal and had the first interview with him; saw him again on the 17th of April. Witness remembers nothing about his dress, but a large traveling shawl, which covered him nearly to the skirt of his coat; had a very light moustache and goatee; his moustache was like that of a boy who had never shaved.

David C. Robinson, August Backus, Mrs. Backus, and Judge Olin also testified, but nothing of importance was elicited.

Court adjourned till to-morrow.

Message from the President.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 15, 1867.

The following Message was transmitted to-day by the President, addressed to the Senate of the United States:

"I transmit herewith reports from the Secretary of War and Attorney General, containing the information called for by a resolution of the Senate of the 3d instant, requesting the President to communicate to the Senate copies of all orders, instructions, circular letters, or letters of advice, issued to the respective military officers assigned to the command of the several military districts, under act of March 2d, 1867, entitled an act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, and act supplementary thereto, passed March 23d, 1867; also copies of all opinions given him by the Attorney General of the United States, touching the construction and interpretation of said acts, and all correspondence relating to the operations, construction and execution of said acts, and such as may have taken place between himself and any such commander, or between him and the General of the army, or between the latter and said commanders, touching said subjects; also copies of all orders issued by said commanders in carrying out the provisions of said act, or either of them; also that he inform the Senate what progress has been made in the matter of registration under said acts, and whether the sum of money appropriated for carrying them out will probably be sufficient.

In answer to that portion of the resolution, whether the sum of money appropriated for carrying these acts into effect is probably sufficient, reference is made to accompanying report of the Secretary of War. It will be seen from that report that the appropriation of $500,000, made in the act approved March 30th, 1867, for the purpose of carrying into effect the act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2d, 1867, and the act supplementary, passed March 23d, 1867, has already been expended by the commanders of the several military districts, and that in addition the sum of $1,645,277 is required for present purposes. It is exceedingly difficult at the present time to estimate the probable expense of carrying into full effect the two acts of March last, and the bill which passed the two Houses of Congress on the 13th instant. If the existing governments of the ten States of the Union are to be deposed and their entire machinery placed under the exclusive authority of the respective district commanders, all expenditures incident to the administration of such government must necessarily be incurred by the Federal Government. It is believed, in addition to the $2,100,000 already expended, an estimate for the sum which will be required for this purpose would not be less than fourteen millions, the aggregate amount expended prior to the rebellion in the administration of their respective governments by the ten States embraced in the provisions of these acts. The sum expended would no doubt be considerably augmented if the machinery of these States is to be operated by the Federal Government, and would be largely increased if the United States, by abolishing the existing State Governments, should become responsible for the liabilities incurred by them before the rebellion, in laudable efforts to develop the resources, &c., in nowise created for insurrectionary purposes. The debts of these States thus legitimately incurred, when accurately ascertained, will, it is believed, approximate an hundred million dollars, and they are held, not only by our own citizens, among whom are residents of portions of the country which have ever been loyal to the Union, but by persons who are subjects of Foreign Governments. It is worthy of the consideration of Congress and the country, whether, if the federal government, by its action, were to assume such obligations, so large an addition to our public expenditures would not seriously impair the credit of the nation; or, on the other hand, whether the refusal of Congress to guarantee the payment of the debts of these States, after having displaced or abolished their State governments, would not be viewed as a violation of good faith, and repudiation by the National Legislature of the liabilities which these States had justly and legally incurred.

Fiendish Outrage.

An outrage of a most fiendish character was perpetrated on Sunday night, on the person of a young German girl named Barbara Roan, who is about sixteen years of age, by six fiends in human shape. The girl, who for some time past has been employed as a domestic in the family of Mr. David Chess, in East Birmingham, had been over in Allegheny, spending the day in company with a German man, and when returning to Birmingham, by the way of the Birmingham bridge, and after having entered the bridge, they were attacked by three men, one of whom struck the German who was escorting the girl and knocked him down. The man on getting up fled, and left the girl to the mercy of the ruffians, who forcibly took her back to the Pittsburgh side of the river, silencing her screams by threatening her life. On reaching the end of the bridge they were joined by three others, when the carried their victim to the tunnel of the Connellsville Railroad, where they repeatedly violated her person, each of the six in turn. They kept her there for over two hours, preventing any outcry on her part by the most terrible threats. Lieut. David Campbell, of the night police, became cognizant of something wrong and approached the spot. The ruffians, however, had fled before he came, and he found only their outraged victim. He conducted her to the Mayor's office, and there she told her story. She stated that the party addressed each other by slang names, which she gave. Two of the names were recognized as belonging to "Patsy" Patton and Wm. McIlravy. Lieutenant Campbell and officer Garrison, of the night police, immediately set out to find the parties mentioned, and in a short time arrested one of them. The other was not captured until about five o'clock yesterday morning, when he also was locked up. The girl this morning was brought into their presence, when she identified McIlravy in the most positive manner. Patton, she is also quite sure of, recognizing him by his voice, but is not so positive as in the case of the other. The two are at present locked up for a hearing. The clue to the other perpetrators of this fiendishness is not so strong as in the case of the two arrested, but it is hoped that they also will soon be secured.

The girl has always borne a good character. Her parents reside at White Hall, on the Brownsville road.

This is one of the most heinous crimes in the catalogue, and where capital punishment is tolerated, should receive the death penalty, and in such cases there should be no such thing as mercy in the Court, in imposing sentence, where the offence is clearly proven. Any punishment that the human mind could conceive would not be too great for the fiend who would deliberately perpetrate such an act.

There is a set of ruffians at all times congregated about the Pittsburgh end of the Birmingham bridge, who are a terror to all persons passing that way, and in fact many gentlemen on the Birmingham side prefer going to the lower bridge, rather than pass them, and we have no doubt but that the parties who committed the damnable act are of that set.

Again for Chickering.

A correspondent in the Chicago Republican thus speaks of the miserable attempts that interested parties are making to detract from the great honor conferred on the Chickering by the Legion of Honor decoration:

"Our competitors sneer at the Gold Cross of the Legion of Honor awarded to Chickering by the Exposition, in addition to the grand gold medal. They must needs keep up with the procession if it kills the horse. Chickering had two honors, i. e., gold cross and gold medal, while they had but one. What do they now advertise! Listen, O, reader! A gold testimonial certificate from some musical club in Paris. Mirabile dictu! This makes them their two honors; so honors are easy. Further they claim the first medal. On what basis? Because, they say, a cable dispatch named Steinway first and Chickering second. Query: Is a traveller in an emigrant car in a more enviable position than he is in one of Pullman's palace cars, because the former comes first? Our assertions and claims are as follows, and will be confirmed by the report of the Exposition as soon as it is published.

Five gold medals equal, in every respect, merit, value, size, &c., awarded.

These were awarded to five different exhibitors and of different nations.

Chickering received one of those medals! Steinway likewise.

We affirm in the strongest language that there was no priority or first or second medals about it; that the medals being of equal merit, and Chickering having received one of those, the juries were incapable of making a higher award. But mark well this: The Imperial Commission, the jury, finale of the Exposition, in view of this equality of good, bad, and indifferent, recommended to the Emperor Napoleon, the President and Head Centre of the Exposition, the decorating of Chickering with the Gold Cross of the Legion of Honor, and that it be attached to their medal. Who dare say this was apart from the Exposition. Laugh at the ribbon, most worthy competitors, as you are pleased to. May you bear your cross as meekly as Chickering will his valiantly.

Something New and Beautiful.

We confess to a lamentable ignorance in matters of art or music, and yet claim to be very fond of both. We occasionally drop in at the studios of our artists. Especially are we directed to the rooms of our friend Mr. Trevor McClurg, who always extends a courteous welcome and obligingly exhibits his portfolio, which rarely fails to surprise us with some new and beautiful creation of his genius. We called again on Saturday, and were much gratified with a variety of heads and portraits of life size executed by Mr. McClurg with a new pencil called "Graphite," made from a peculiar kind of plumbago recently discovered in Siberia. They have the appearance of fine engravings, and are very soft and delicate in their shadings and full of character; some of them are taken from life, others from photographs as small as a carte de visite, and are surprisingly accurate likenesses. Any one having a good photograph and wishing to preserve the likeness of a friend, can have it enlarged indefinitely in this beautiful style for about one-third the cost of a portrait in oil, with the advantage of being more artistic, altogether more durable, and can be furnished more expeditiously. All persons who would like to see or possess at the same time a beautiful drawing and a perfect likeness, should go and see them.

Improvements.

The Vigilant Fire Company are making extensive alterations and improvements at their house on Third street. The stairs, which hitherto occupied about four feet of the front side of the building, are removed to the rear. The whole front, about twenty-two feet, is now divided into a large centre and two side doors. Along the whole depth of the main rooms in the first and second stories, on one side, are arranged closets or wardrobes; those in the lower story for the firemen's uniform of the several members of the Company, and those on the second floor for their other clothing. In this room sleeping cots are provided for the engineer, driver and a squad of the members to be ready for service at the tap of the bell. Stalls for the horses, with feed boxes, &c., are tastefully fitted up. Altogether the Vigilant is preparing to be more vigilant. White & Donnell, of Allegheny, are the contractors for these repairs, which is a guarantee that the work will be done in the best manner.

Sleeping Car Affray.—Joseph Johnston the person charged with stabbing James Lunzer, in a sleeping car at the Union Depot, on the night of the 7th inst., was arrested yesterday morning, on a warrant issued by Alderman Taylor, and committed for a hearing. Johnston claims to have been so badly injured in the affray that he was not able to get about and that he was confined to his bed at his boarding house, on High street, where he was arrested.

Police Items.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY CASE.

William Kirchland, a respectable citizen of East Birmingham, was assaulted yesterday near the Birmingham bridge, by two ruffians named Jones and Taylor. Kirchland alleges that he was sitting near the bridge at the Pittsburgh end, when he was accosted by these two scamps in a ruffianly manner, and that he endeavored to escape from them by crossing the bridge, when they commenced throwing stones at him, one of which struck him on the head, and another he alleges struck a lady who was crossing the bridge at the time. He made information before Alderman Strain against them for assault and battery and they have been arrested and held for a hearing.

Michael Dignon made information before Alderman Strain, against F. Weis, charging him with assault and battery. He alleges that he was in Weis' saloon, at the corner of Liberty and Fifth streets, on Sunday, and that without any provocation, he was roughly handled by the defendant, by being pulled and hauled about the room to the door, and then shoved out. There are always two sides to a story, and the other side of this one puts a different face upon it. It is alleged by the defendant that it was the bar-keeper who did the pulling and hauling and shoving referred to above, and that Michael deserved it all, and more, too. Michael, it appears, went into the saloon to get a drink, and because he could not get what he wanted, became boisterous, when he was quietly taken to the door by the bar-keeper, and shoved out. A warrant was issued.

Debora Burnett appeared before Alderman Taylor, and made information against Mary J. Berkey, charging her with assault and battery. She alleges that Mary attacked her without any provocation, and maliciously bit her on the arm. The defendant was arrested and held for a hearing.

James Stevenson made information before the same officer, charging John Johnston with assault and battery with intent to kill. Johnston, it will be remembered, is the boy who cut James Lunzer, in a sleeping car at the Union Depot, on the night of June 7th. The two, Johnston and Lunzer, had been drinking together during the night and went to the car to sleep, when a difficulty arose, which resulted in Lunzer being severely cut. He was removed to his home in Harrisburg, where he has been confined to his bed ever since, not being able to leave his bed. Johnson was arrested at his boarding house on High street by officer C. Davis, of the depot police. He claims that he was so badly injured in the difficulty as to be confined to his bed. He was committed to jail for a further hearing on Tuesday next, by which time it is expected Lunzer will be able to appear against him.

SURETY OF THE PEACE.

Patrick Welsh, a resident of Soho, is charged, before Alderman Strain, on oath of Thomas Bowler, with surety of the peace. Bowler alleges that the defendant used abusive and blasphemous language, calculated to disturb the peace and dignity of the Commonwealth, and especially the quietness of the community.

AFFILIATION.

Mary Sharp made information before Alderman Strain, against Charles F. Tutell, charging him with fornication and bastardy. The prosecutrix resides in Pine alley, Allegheny city. Tutell was arrested and held for a hearing.

Armstrong, Bro. & Co., Manufacturers and Dealers in Corks, Bungs, &c., 122 and 125 Third Street.

The manufacture of machine cut corks and bungs, plugs, spickets, &c., is carried on very extensively in this city by Messrs. Armstrong, Brother & Co., whose factory is located at 122 and 125 Third street. The trade in this line is entirely monopolized by this firm who have ever conducted the business in a manner to give general satisfaction and to preclude any opposition. We believe that this is the only factory of the character west of the Allegheny mountains and between this and Cincinnati. Yesterday we were shown through the extensive works and with much pleasure witnessed the working of the delicate machinery by which thousands of various sized corks, plugs, taps, &c., were turned out. Only a few years ago all of this important work was performed by hand, but the introduction of machinery has greatly enhanced the importance of the trade. Corks of all sizes, from the little phial stopper, up to the largest fruit can or glass jar cork, are carefully made and from the character of the machinery each one must be perfectly true and correct. The very best quality of cork is used in manufacturing, and the trade mark of the firm of Armstrong, Bro. & Co. is recognized as evidence of superiority throughout the country. The poplar bungs are likewise favorably known. They are made out of the most perfect wood, and are perfectly true and perfect. These are in very general use and are everywhere highly appreciated where their merits over all others are properly understood. The attention of coopers, brewers, oil men and distillers is especially directed to this article of the firm's trade. They are capable of manufacturing any given quantity of these superior bungs on the shortest notice, and can afford to sell them at the cheapest of prices. The plugs, taps, spickets, &c., are also worthy of special notice, but all persons interested in the trade should call at the factory and examine for themselves. The gentlemen composing the firm are fair dealing and honorable, and are certainly in every respect worthy all the public patronage in their line of trade in this section of country. Their card appears in another column.

The Continental Saloon.

Among the many well conducted first class restaurants and eating saloons in the city none stand higher in the estimation of the public than the "Continental," situated next door to the Postoffice, on Fifth street. It has for a long time past been under the management of Mr. Wm. Holtzheimer, the worthiest and most skilled of proprietors, and has ever merited and received a large share of public patronage. The saloon is well arranged for the business to which it is adapted, being large, airy and neatly fitted. The furniture is of first class style, while the utmost cleanliness prevails. All the cooking is done in the rear of the saloon—a great convenience in this warm weather which other places for dining might profitably adopt. The tables are kept constantly supplied with the choicest of viands and delicacies which the markets afford, served up in the very best style of the culinary art. The bar is liberally supplied with ales, wines and beers, no stronger beverages being sold. To those desirous of procuring a first class meal we can safely recommend Mr. Holtzheimer's saloon.

Great Rush for Bargains.

There has been, during the past week, a great rush for bargains at the well known and popular dry goods store of Messrs. Mooney & Drennan, No. 50 Federal street, Allegheny city. The closing out sale, with its remarkably cheap prices, has thus far been attended with much success. Although great quantities of goods have been disposed of at bargains, there still remains unsold a large portion of the stock. Being anxious to close out within a short time, the firm have made still further reduction in their prices, and now offer such bargains as may be obtained seldom in a life time. The stock contains nothing but good goods which will be disposed of without any regard to cost. The public are invited to call in, examine the goods and inquire the prices. Remember the place, Mooney & Drennan's, No. 50 Federal street, Allegheny city.

The Japanese.

Maguire's Imperial Japanese Troupe, which for the last few months have been creating such a furore of excitement throughout the United States, are at last in Pittsburgh. They gave the first of a series of entertainments in the Opera House last night to a densely crowded house. The entertainment is a truly interesting one, both as to antiqueness and novelty, and the marvellous character of the performance. Little King Kee Chee, or "All Right," is a prodigy in his way. It would be useless to attempt a description of all the wonderful feats he performs, any one of which is worth the price of admission, and we will therefore not attempt to describe them. Persons desiring to witness the performance should secure seats, as it was almost impossible to find "standing room" last night.

Cat-echistic.

The hirsute "greenhorn" of the Dispatch, of "coal pit" fame, who offered us the help of one of his cats and some cream that we might become as he is, seems not to have fully recovered from his cat-alepsis—"silent meditation" in "chimerian darkness"—as his cat-echistic reference to the burglary at Mrs. Thompson's house in Allegheny clearly evinces. When his symptoms shall entirely subside, his readers will be curious to have him elucidate how the integrity of the Seventh commandment can be invaded by youths of twelve years, and wherein the damage to window shutters, or molasses and ale barrels, is obnoxious to the precept in question.

Pure Rye Whisky is an exceedingly difficult article to get at a reasonable price, but when you want it go to FLEMING'S DRUG STORE, No. 84 Market street, where you can rely on getting a better article for less money than at any other place in the city,—where you can also procure the best Medicinal Liquors of all kinds. Remember the place—84 Market street.

Attempted Suicide.—A young Pittsburgher, says the Louisville papers, attempted to commit suicide at the United States Hotel, in that city, on Thursday of last week, "for the benefit of his friends," by taking laudanum. According to arrangement he was discovered ere it was too late, antidotes applied, and the young man's life saved.

School Picnic.—To-day, at Iron City Park, a picnic will be given under the auspices of St. Mary's Schools, of Lawrenceville, to which the proceeds will be devoted. A fine dinner will be served up, and other attractions afforded to render the occasion enjoyable.

Mass Meeting.—To-night at City Hall will be held a grand mass meeting to ratify the nomination of Judge Williams for the Supreme Court. Able speakers and good music will be on hand. A full turnout of the Republican voters is invited.

Much Discussion has been excited by the application of Prof. George B. Vashon, colored, for admission to the Pittsburgh Bar, and when the matter comes up there is likely to be some lively arguments.

The Court of Common Pleas was in session yesterday, a full bench being present, and the June argument list taken up. Quite a number of cases were disposed of. The Court will be in session to-day.

We sell Dry Goods both at wholesale and retail, and are, as a consequence, enabled to keep a larger and much better assorted stock, to sell cheaper, and give the goods in more accommodating quantities than exclusive jobbing houses. Retail merchants are invited to examine our stock.

New Castle Postmaster.—Among other nominations made by the President last week and sent to the Senate for confirmation, was that of H. J. Ramsdell for Postmaster at New Castle, Lawrence county.

Deafness, Discharges from the Ears, Catarrh, Diseases of the Eye, and all affections of a chronic and obstinate character successfully treated by Dr. Aborn, 134 Smithfield street.

No Place Else in the City—Can better or cheaper Boots, Shoes, Balmorals and everything else in this line, be found than at the time honored store of James Robb, No. 89 Market street.

It is said that a German lady in Allegheny has cleared the sum of five thousand dollars during the past year, by telling fortunes.

Judges Williams and Hampton were in consultation yesterday concerning District Court matters.

Cold Sparkling Soda Water at J. T. Sample's Drug Store, No. 38 Federal street, Allegheny.

Ladies' Friend for August, for sale by Hozie & Chambers, No. 74 Fifth street.

—The International Monetary Conference, at Paris, have adopted the five franc piece as the unit of gold coins. It is understood that the United States will reduce the value of the gold dollar to five francs. The French government will coin pieces of twenty-five francs, which will then be of the same value as the United States five dollar gold piece, while England by a slight reduction in the value of sovereigns will bring it down to the same standard. This virtually makes the American dollar the unit for gold.

CLASSICAL ANECDOTES.

—Cato, the elder, said, "That wise men learned more from fools than fools from wise men."

—Cæsar gave as a reason for Sylla resigning the dictatorship, that he (Sylla,) was ignorant of letters and could not dictate.

—One of the Stoics was asked in what a wise man differed from a fool. He answered: "Send them both naked to those who know them not, and you shall perceive."

—Aristippus said, "That those who studied particular sciences to the neglect of philosophy were like Penelope's wooers, that made love to the waiting women."

—Demades, the orator, in his old age was a great talker and glutton. Antipates said of him, "That he was like a sacrifice: nothing left but the tongue and paunch."

—Plato was wont to say of his master, Socrates, "He was like the apothecaries' gally-pots, that had on the outside apes, and owls, and satyrs, but within, precious drugs."

—Trojan would say of the vain jealousies of princes that seek to make away with those who aspire to their succession, "That there was never king that did put to death his successor."

—Alonso of Arragon was wont to say in commendation of old age, "That age appeared to be best in four things; old wood best to burn; old wine to drink, old friends to trust, and old authors to read."

—Philip of Macedon was importuned to banish one who was charged with speaking ill of him. "No," said Philip; "better he remain here where we are both known, than to send him where we are unknown."

—Cicero was at dinner where there was an ancient maiden lady, who affirmed that she was but forty years old. Cicero said to a neighbor, "I must believe her, for I have heard her say so any time these twenty years."

—Vespasian asked of Apollonius what was the cause of Nero's ruin. Apollonius answered, "Nero could tune the harp well; but in government he did always wind up the strings too tight or let them down too low."

—Cæsar, when Consul of Cisalpine, Gaul, frequently applied to the Senate for more succor and more men. Pompey one day said: "He (Cæsar,) agreed well with the name of Charon, ferryman of hell, for he came still for more men, to increase regnum umbrarum."

—Plato entertained some of his friends at a dinner, and had in the chamber a bed, neatly and costly furnished. Diogenes came in and got upon the bed, and trampled it, saying, "I trample upon the pride of Plato!" Plato mildly answered: "But with far more pride, Diogenes."

—Bayard Taylor, who ought to be a judge, says: "I am more than ever convinced that the best pleasures and most lasting advantages of travel belong not to the first or second, but to the fourth or fifth visit to foreign lands. If one misses the enthusiasm, the exhilaration, the capacity for thoughtless enjoyment, and the delightful ignorance of youth, on the other hand one has less of uncertainty, of perplexing questions to solve; a keener, closer, more intelligent appreciation; a far wider and more fruitful field of interest, and a cultivated perception of beauty which is gratified at every turn."

—A Berlin journal relates that the famous Bismarck once challenged Dr. Virchow for offensive language used in parliamentary debate. The learned doctor was engaged in investigations relating to trichnosis. He is said to have thus replied to the messenger who bore Bismarck's challenge: "My arms: there they are—those two sausages. One of them is full of trichinæ, the other is pure. Let his Excellency breakfast with me. We will eat the sausages, and he shall take his choice of them."

—There were three cases of drowning at Peru, Illinois, Tuesday. A man and his wife were boating on the river a short distance below the city, and it is supposed she fell overboard and he endeavored to rescue her when they were both drowned. The body of the man has been found. Search for the body of the woman is still being made. A boy about sixteen years of age was drowned while bathing. His body has not yet been recovered.

UNION REPUBLICAN NOMINATION.

FOR JUDGE OF SUPREME COURT:

HON. HENRY W. WILLIAMS,

Of Allegheny County.

WHO ARE CITIZENS?

On Saturday last, as was detailed in our columns yesterday, a motion was made in the Court of Common Pleas of this county, to admit Mr. GEORGE B. VASHON, a colored gentleman, to the bar. Judge STOWE expressed the opinion that colored persons, though citizens of the United States, were not citizens of Pennsylvania. With due deference, we beg leave to suggest that this opinion must have been uttered without proper consideration, and that, upon further reflection, the Judge will overrule himself.

The federal Constitution expressly provides that "The citizens of each State shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several States." Consequently, a person who is a citizen in one part of this country, is necessarily a citizen in all parts thereof. In the days of Slavery some cavils were raised on this point. Massachusetts was compelled to appeal to the United States Courts against such a cavil raised by South Carolina. The citizens of the latter State, having no faith in their own averments, thought it safer to mob Mr. HOAR, the Commissioner of Massachusetts, out of Charleston, than to have the cause brought to trial. It is quite time northern Courts ceased to follow the old pro-slavery ideas, which originated in passion and misconception.

The general rule is that all persons born or naturalized in the country, male and female, adult and infant, black and white, are citizens. The naturalization of a male alien confers citizenship on his wife and minor children, and whether the children are sons or daughters. The exceptions to this rule are, the children born in this country of the diplomatic, consular or other agents of foreign Governments; of foreigners not intending to become citizens but domiciled in this country in the pursuit of business; of foreigners traveling in this country in quest of knowledge or pleasure, or for any other motive.

The Constitution of Pennsylvania, in common with those of some other States, recognizes this principle in providing that white, male citizens, of the full age of twenty-one years, who have resided in the State one year, and who have paid a State or county tax within two years, shall be voters, and none others. The intention of this provision is not to specify who are citizens, but, from among various classes of citizens, to specify which shall exercise the elective franchise. If the Judge should fail to pay his State or county taxes for the space of two years, he would not cease to be a citizen, and so be liable to ejection from his seat on the bench. He would only cease to be a voting citizen. If the Judge was traveling in Europe, with his family, and his wife and daughters should be improperly treated by foreign officials, he would not hesitate to make an appeal to the representatives of his own Government for redress. He would base his appeal not primarily on the ground of his citizenship, but of their citizenship. If a man comes from another State into Pennsylvania to reside, no matter if he was born and spent most of his years here, he would be constrained to undergo a probation before voting. This is required, not to perfect his citizenship, but to complete his right to suffrage. The probation is not a condition of citizenship, but a precaution against frauds upon the ballot-box.

Mr. VASHON was born in Pennsylvania, and hence is a citizen of the United States. Chief Justice TANEY, in the Dred Scott Case, affirmed this doctrine. His decision was that Scott was a slave; therefore, not a citizen; and consequently not entitled to bring suit. If he had not been a slave, he would have been a citizen, and entitled to maintain his action, though black. This decision confronted the Constitution of Mississippi and other Southern States, which even then recognized the citizenship of slaves. The Constitution of Mississippi gave the suffrage to every free, male citizen (people of color excepted,) who had attained the age of 21 years. This was admitting that there were citizens who were not free, and slaves who were not black. Such was the literal fact.

Mr. VASHON became a resident of New York. He was a citizen there, as he was here. He might have been a voter under its laws. Whether he become a voter depended not on his color, but on his property. In this respect his color was an immaterial peculiarity; his property the determining consideration. He came back to Pennsylvania. He has resided here a number of years. He is a citizen of Pennsylvania, in law and in fact. He cannot be deprived of his citizenship by the ipse dixit of a Judge or of fifty Judges.

ANTHRACITE COAL TRADE.

We have heretofore mentioned that the Lehigh Navigation Company was constructing a railroad from the mouth of the Lehigh, at or near Easton, following the left bank, to the headwaters of that stream. From Easton, traffic over this line reaches New York by the Morris and Essex Railroad. Recently the Lehigh Navigation Company has extended its railroad from the head-waters of the Lehigh down to Wilkesbarre, on the North Branch of the Susquehanna. The Mauch Chunk Railroad, which follows the right bank of the Lehigh, has likewise been extended to the same point, thus furnishing the central portions of Luzerne with new outlets to the New York market. This summer the Lehigh Navigation Company has extended it road from Wilkesbarre, up the Lackawanna, to Scranton, there connecting with the railroad of the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company to Honesdale, by way of Carbondale. The Union Coal Company, whose mines are located near Wilkesbarre, have made an arrangement to send five hundred thousand tons of anthracite coal annually over this combined line to Honesdale, to be taken thence to New York by canal.

It is reported that the Lehigh Navigation Company will soon extend its railroad from Carbondale so as to intersect the Erie Railway at Starucca, connecting at that point with the Susquehanna Railroad to Albany. From Oneonta, on the latter line, a new road has been projected to Utica. From Starucca, the country through which the Erie Railway and its tributaries run will be reached. These enterprises will all conduce to widen the market for Pennsylvania coal.

But this is not the only essential point involved in these enterprises. Three powerful New York Companies hold the upper or northern part of Luzerne county, so far as concerns the coal trade. These are the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company, the Pennsylvania Coal Company, and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company. These Companies are nominally common carriers; that is their charters provide they shall carry all freight offering, up to their capacity, but the legal rate of tolls is so high the public is excluded. All the coal they transport is their own, or carried for others under special arrangements. The Lehigh Companies are exclusively common carriers. They neither mine nor sell coal. Heretofore the New York Companies have controlled the New York market, and have determined the price of coal lands in the Lackawanna Valley, because their monopoly was absolute. Hereafter the Lehigh Companies will create competition, giving individual operators a chance. This competition will be advantageous to the Commonwealth. Under the monopoly system, all the wealth realized from the coal of Upper Luzerne is taken to New York and divided among stockholders there. Under the Lehigh system, it will remain permanently in the State, and contribute to the prosperity of the section yielding it. A brisk struggle will soon be developed between the three New York Companies and the two Lehigh Companies for Supremacy in the New York market.

FARM, GARDEN AND HOUSEHOLD.

A lady contributor of the Western Rural has something to say about side dishes:

"A great many notable housekeepers, who pride themselves—and with justice—on their good cooking, are lamentably deficient in the matter of side dishes, make ups, or, as the children call them, 'hodge podges,' but which are the spice and variety of eating life, beside setting off a table to great advantage, at a trifling cost. They will have ham and eggs in the season of them twenty-one times a week, the ham cooked in just such crisp, brown slices, and the eggs the exact color and consistency they should be, and the 'folks' get tired of the sight of them.

"Now a very nice omelet can be made in this way. Six eggs well beaten, cold ham or raw, chopped fine, and stirred in, the whole well seasoned with salt, pepper, sugar and mustard, making a very savory dish. Fry brown in a buttered pan and turn over in a half minute. Another way to cook ham is to cut the slices very thin, broil nicely, and put a bit of butter on. Then heat up a pint of rich, sweet cream, with mustard, sugar, pepper, and other condiments; butter some slices of toasted bread and lay around the side of the dish, and turn the hot cream over, having first thickened it with a teaspoonful of flour paste.

"This makes a very nice dish, and so on through an endless variety of breakfast relishes. A good way to use up crusts of dried bread, the 'heels' of loaves and remnants, is to steam them in cream or milk, and turn a cup of melted butter over them. It makes a rich, palatable dish, if care is taken not to have them too moist. Another good way is to cut them in small, even squares, and crisp them in the oven to a nice brown. They make a good substitute for crackers in soup or milk.

"Cabbages may be cooked in an almost endless variety of ways. Everybody knows how to boil it with pork and beef, but it does not agree with everybody's digestion in that form. A more delicate process is to cut it fine, not chopping, but shaving it, and put it in a tin basin, with just enough water to wet it through and keep it from burning. When it is well heated, and greened through, put in a lump of butter as big as a hen's egg for one cabbage, and stir it through. Then beat up an egg in a half cup of vinegar, and add a teaspoonful of flour and a teaspoonful of salt, and stir well through, taking it immediately from the fire. It can easily be prepared in fifteen minutes, and is excellent.

"A cold salad of cabbage is thus prepared: Slice very fine and lay in a dish. Beat up two eggs in a cup of vinegar; add one teaspoonful of mustard, two teaspoonsful of sugar, and one of salt, and a large lump of butter. Boil and turn over the cabbage. For a supper this is very nice eaten cold. Another is of my own invention, but hundreds have proved the recipe: Shave the cabbage very fine and put it in a dish; slice the onions—the large silver onion is the best—and place them in layers; boil some eggs from seven to ten minutes; peel them and slice in with the cabbage and onions. Then boil a quart of vinegar, well spiced, and turn on boiling hot and let it stand till cold, when repeat. This can be made at any time for dinner or supper, and is a most delicious pickle."

Potato Culture.

"Agricola," in your issue of March 7th, asks for the views of your correspondents as to the cause of the decrease of the yield of potatoes. I believe it is a universal result that, the farther you get from the source of all new kinds, (the seed ball,) the less the yield, the weaker the plant, more subtle to disease, and the finer the quality of the tubers when they do escape the rot. There may be exceptions to this rule, but not as far as my experience and observation goes. The first kind of which I have a distinct recollection was the Kidney—an excellent table potato, a good yielder for a few years, but gradually running down, notwithstanding all my exertions to keep up the yield, by changing the seed, planting the best, and alternating from meadow to upland. Let me say here, that the plan of using potatoes grown on muck for seed, on upland, and vice versa, will add 20 per cent. to the quality. The bulk of my crop is grown on muck, but my practice is to raise my seed on high ground. I have also furnished a market gardener, in the city of Newburgh, every year for ten years past, with seed from the meadow, and his reason for so doing was, that not only was there a much greater quantity obtained, but they grow very smooth, which they do not when he uses his own for seed. Soon after the Kidney had run out, the Mercer was introduced and yielded finely, of fair quality, but as different from the Mercer now as if they were distinct varieties. At first there was but little white about them—being mostly of a purplish color, which extended into the tuber. Those I have grown in late years are, as a general thing, entirely white, except the eyes around the end opposite the stem, and this is more or less the characteristic of those grown in my section at this time. In mine, it was brought about by selecting seed to that end for a number of years, until they were entirely white, both outside and in. All this painstaking did not prevent them from decreasing in yield and vigor of constitution, till they are no longer worth cultivating. The same took place with the Long Pinkeye, Prince Albert, June and Peachblow. We might theorize on the subject, but, to the practical farmer, theory is not worth much; facts are what we want, and, if we are progressive farmers, we will square our practice by them. I have discarded the old worn out kinds, and now grow none but the Goodrich Seedlings, having the Garnet Chili, Calico, Early Goodrich, Gleason and Harrison, all good yielders—the three last enormously so, giving last year over 400 bushels per acre, in open field culture, except the Harrison, which I grew in limited quantity for the first time. Except the Garnet Chili, they are all white, a longish shape, good quality, and ripen in time to escape frost. The Early Goodrich is a remarkable potato, in several respects. Besides being a great yielder, it is the most beautiful grower of any I ever saw; and, though as early as the earliest, it is good throughout the season. The Gleason is a good grower, and the handsomest tuber of any kind I know of—having a very delicate skin, of a slightly pinkish tint. If Agricola will take the above as sort of answer to this query, "Why the potato decreases in yield?" he is welcome to it.—J. H. Vail, in Country Gentleman.

How to Break Colts.

No horse is naturally vicious, nor was there ever a vicious horse that was not made so by mismanagement. The more noble and high-spirited the horse is, the more cautious he is of danger. Now, if we attempt to subdue him without first getting his confidence, and eradicating that fear, the process will be slow indeed. He is constantly excited, and leeps and plunges, and perhaps throws himself, in his madness. The common way of breaking colts fully illustrates this.

Suppose we take altogether a different course, and entice him into the yard, and then alone quietly commence his education; when he finds himself alone with his enemy, he will watch very narrowly all our movements; slowly and cautiously we approach him; soon we see by his restless eye that he is afraid; we stop awhile, then again proceed, being very careful to go slow, that his eye will show no fear; when within his reach we carefully put out our hand towards him, he reaches out his head and smells, and then commence to pat and smooth him on the nose and neck, which he is as fond of as a cat; step away from him, and, to our wonder, he follows us; we gently caress him again, and we soon find he will follow us anywhere.

Then we put on a halter, and find that he is already halter broken; you may handle him as familiarly as you choose, and he will not kick or bite; and, if you take the same careful, gentle course in his after education, you will never know him to resist any demand which he understands. Having established our friendship in his mind, we should never frighten him by attempting to make him do anything he does not understand. Never attempt to harness or mount a colt suddenly the first time, for it will surely frighten him, and you will lose his confidence. Horses are made vicious by bad usage; and a man who can abuse a noble and confiding horse, and spoil his disposition, should be the only one to suffer from the teeth and hoofs of the same animal.—Prairie Farmer.

Sociability Among Farmers.

Naturally the farmer is an unselfish man. His labors are mostly out of doors. His calling takes him much abroad, and enables him to mingle considerably with the world. Yet looking at the very large proportion of the population embraced in his pursuit, and the important influence exercised by it over all our public affairs, it is a subject of common remark, even by agriculturists themselves, that their social intercourse should be so much restricted.

There is no other cause for this seclusiveness on the part of farmers that we can see than the "treading in the footprints of their predecessors." Be this as it may, there are other causes operating which appear to be changing this for the better. County fairs, bringing agriculturists together from districts sufficiently near to each other to make acquaintanceship pleasant and lasting, and putting them in friendly emulation in matters and things involving their skill and success, are clearly working to form more close companionships between those whose domestic comforts and family enjoyments must be greatly promoted in the future.

Little clubs among the farmers of a neighborhood, to meet once a week, to discuss or talk over the innumerable subjects connected with the intelligent prosecution of their noble profession, produce a decidedly fraternizing and socializing effect. While these local associations should not be too formal and restricted, they should have an official organization as better calculated to cause punctuality at the meetings, as well as to add to their permanency.

On these occasions the wives and daughters of families should always accompany their husbands, fathers or brothers—not to participate of course in the proceedings that may take place, but to increase the agreeability of the meetings, and to share in the pleasure of these delightful interchanges of good neighborhood. Indeed, if the truth must be spoken—and we are ready to do it upon all occasions, especially upon such a one as this—there is very little social enjoyment in the world which is not refined and made doubly enjoyable by the presence of woman.—Germantown Telegraph.

Bushing Tomatoes.

Those who love good tomatoes will take pains to cultivate them so as to ensure them as near as may be in their full perfection. There is no other fruit that delights more in the air and sunshine than the tomato. They should have, therefore, abundance of room, and the vines be sustained from falling to the earth. Stout brush firmly set around the plants answer the purpose better than any other method. The branches have room to extend themselves as they like, while the limbs of the brush keep them in their positions. By this method the fruit is more fully exposed to the genial influence of the air and sunshine; where it attains a more delicious flavor, larger size, and comes quicker to maturity.

A Blow at the Church—Nuns Turned into the Street—Extraordinary Taxes.

[Correspondence of the New York Times.]

CITY OF MEXICO, June 22, 1867.

The blow to the Church has been struck by Baz. He ordered, last night, the nuns to disoccupy the convents within forty-eight hours. So, from henceforth there are to be no more convents in Mexico. The disoccupation is going on today, and by sunrise to-morrow the 860 nuns of this Capital will be separated, never, perhaps, to reunite on earth.

Another order or two of Baz appears to-day. One abolishes the internal duty on all articles of living, such as vegetable, grain, &c., for the period of fifteen days, commencing with the day of occupation, or yesterday. He also makes a price-list, at which vegetables and articles of necessity are to be sold.

Baz also decrees that there will be collected an extraordinary tax of one per cent. on real estate and personal property, and that it must be paid in three equal installments, viz: in three days, fifteen days and thirty days. If the whole is paid within three days a reduction of 20 per cent. is made. A heavy pressed or forced loan could not be collected here now, and the authorities are aware of it, because there is no money in the capital or country, comparatively speaking. There is no money for circulation, and it will take months to replace an ordinary quantity of coin in circulation. It must first be mined and coined. The rainy season is upon us, and commerce is and will be powerless to progress until the dry season again begins, which will be in November. A few, and but a few, heavy houses have opened; but hundreds are ruined and will not be able to resume business until liquidation takes place. Mexico in all its branches is poor, poorer, poorest to-day. Where will she borrow money now? Will the Bourbon throne of Europe loan more to the executioners of a royal Bourbon? Will the Government at Washington loan us funds for the support of a Government which refused its request to preserve the lives of its prisoners? Such questions are asked on every hand. Can Mexico sustain itself? It is an impossibility. Her revenue for a year to come will not cover the expenses of this last campaign. She owes $1,600,000 to her army now to be discharged. The interest on her English and Spanish loans is now two years in arrears. The French claims will be renounced en toto. Will the United States lend on security? "If not, she must purchase territory," some say, "because we are bankrupt."

A TIMELY WARNING.

It is especially important at this time, when the markets of the United States are flooded with the direst poisons, under the name of imported liquors, and when domestic compounds purporting to be medicinal, but not a whit less pernicious, are be added to the world as "sovereign remedies," that the public should fully understand the facts. Be it known, then, that while all the diffusive stimulants called liquors are impure, and all the Tonics containing alcohol are manufactured with a fiery article containing amyl or fusil oil, a mortal poison, HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS contain none of these things, but are a combination of pure essence of Rye with the pure juices of the most valuable stomachic, antibilious and aperient herbs and plants, and that as a safe and rapid remedy for Dyspepsia and all its kindred complaints, this preparation stands before the world without a rival or competitor. Its sales to-day are equal to the combined sales of all the other tonics advertised in the United States, and the certificates which authenticate its usefulness are signed by individuals of the highest standing in every professional calling and walk of life. Beware of imitators and impostors.

PINUS CANADENSIS.

A tree which is abundant in Canada, Nova Scotia, and the more northern parts of the New England States, and is also found in the elevated and mountainous regions of the Middle States, and abounds in medicinal virtues. Dr. Swett, of Boston, has prepared a medicine from the sweet inside bark of the pine tree, called POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND, which is of rare value in all debilitated states of the kidneys. It acts like a charm in all diseases of mucous membranes, enabling them to regain their lost tone and energy. It will be found well adapted to all these diseases, where Buchu has been tried and failed. It is likewise well suited to chronic coughs, and an infallible specific for old and dilapidated cases of asthma. Many persons who at first only took a bottle of this medicine, to try, afterwards came back and got a dozen, or half dozen, which effected radical cures of diseases of the bladder and kidney of years standing. Diabetes, a disease that has been looked upon as among the incurables, is immediately relieved by it. Notice the certificate of Asa Goodnue, published some time ago. The United States Dispensatory, speaking of the pine, says: "It is prescribed in leucorrhoea, gleet, and in other diseases of the urinary passages; in piles and chronic inflammation or ulceration of the bowels. In chronic catarrhal affections, and in various forms of rheumatism." It is exceedingly valuable in all gravelly affections, bloody urine, and where there is red and white sediment. It can be taken without interruption to one's usual avocations, and instead of sickening, produces a bracing, healthy power of endurance and vigor. Price, $1 per bottle; six for $5. Ask for POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND. For sale by the gross, dozen or single bottle, at DR. KEYSER'S Great Medicine Store, 140 Wood street. ap30

GENTLEMEN—We ship you, to-day, by railroad, a safe of your make, for a few repairs. The safe went through the disastrous fire that occurred here on the 6th of March last, burning our store and warehouse, and we are glad to inform you that the papers taken out of the safe after the fire were not harmed in the least. We did not suppose any safe, especially so small a size, could possibly stand such a fire, and when we discovered the papers all safe and sound, we were agreeably disappointed. CAPE MAY,

CAPE ISLAND.

Since the close of 1866 much enterprise has been displayed at this celebrated sea-shore resort. New and magnificent cottages have been erected; the Hotels have been remodeled; a fine park, with a well made one mile drive, has been inaugurated; and in all the essentials of a popular summer resort, a spirit of improvement is largely manifested.

The geographical position of Cape Island is in itself a peculiar feature, which properly understood—Situated at the extreme southern portion of the State, and occupying a neck of land at the confluence of the Delaware Bay with the Atlantic Ocean, it becomes entirely surrounded by salt water, hence favored by continual breezes from the sea.

The bluff furnishes a beautiful view of the Ocean, Delaware Bay, and picturesque back country, taking in Cape Henlopen distinctly at a distance of sixteen miles. The beach is acknowledged to surpass any other point upon the Atlantic coast, being of a smooth, compact sand which declines so gently to the surf that even a child can bathe with security.

Added to these attractions is the fact that the effect of the Gulf stream upon this point renders the water comparatively warm—a point not to be overlooked by persons seeking health from ocean bathing.

The distance from Philadelphia to Cape Island is 81 miles by rail, and about the same distance by steamer down the Bay, and by either route the facilities for travel promise to be of the most satisfactory character. The Island has Hotel and Boarding-house accommodations for about ten thousand persons. The leading Hotels are the Columbia House, with GEORGE J. BOLTON as proprietor; Congress Hall, with J. F. CAKE as proprietor, and United States, with WEST & MILLER as proprietors, all under the management of gentlemen who have well established reputations as hotel men.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE

RAILROAD CO.

Are now constructing a Railroad from OMAHA, NEBRASKA, westward towards the Pacific Ocean, making, with its connections, an unbroken line

ACROSS THE CONTINENT.

The Company now offer a limited amount of their

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,

Having thirty years to run, and bearing annual interest, payable on the first day of January and July, in the City of New York, at the rate of

SIX PER CENT. IN GOLD,

At Ninety Cents on the Dollar.

This road was completed from Omaha 305 miles west on the 1st of January, 1867, and is fully equipped, and trains are regularly running over it. The Company has now on hand sufficient iron, ties, etc., to finish the remaining portion to the eastern base of the Rocky Mountains, 212 miles, which is under contract to be done September 1st of this year, and it is expected that the entire road will be in running order from Omaha to its western connection with the Central Pacific, now being rapidly built eastward from Sacramento, Cal., during 1870.

Means of the Company.

Estimating the distance to be built by the Union Pacific to be 1,565 miles, the United States Government issues its Six per cent. Thirty-year Bonds to the Company as the road is finished at the average rate of about $28,250 per mile, amounting to $44,208,000.

The Company is also permitted to issue its own First Mortgage Bonds to an equal amount, and at the same time, which BY SPECIAL ACT OF CONGRESS ARE MADE A FIRST MORTGAGE ON THE ENTIRE LINE, the bonds of the United States being subordinate to them.

The Government makes a donation of 12,800 acres of land to the mile, amounting to 20,032,000 acres, estimated to be worth $30,000,000, making the total resources, exclusive of the capital, $118,416,000; but the full value of the lands cannot now be realized.

The authorized Capital Stock of the Company is one hundred million dollars, of which five millions have already been paid in, and of which it is not supposed that more than twenty-five millions at most will be required.

The cost of the road is estimated by competent engineers to be about one hundred million dollars, exclusive of equipment.

Prospects for Business.

The railroad connection between Omaha and the East is now complete, and the earnings of the Union Pacific on the sections already finished, for the month of May, were $261,782. These sectional earnings, as the road progresses, will much more than pay the interest on the Company's bonds, and the through business over the only line of railroad between the Atlantic and Pacific must be immense.

Value and Security of the Bonds.

The Company respectfully submit that the above statement of facts fully demonstrates the security of their Bonds, and as additional proof they would suggest that the Bonds now offered are less than ten million dollars on 517 miles of road, on which over twenty million dollars have already been expended; on 310 miles of this road the cars are now running, and the remaining 187 miles are nearly completed.

At the present rate of premium on gold these bonds pay an annual interest on the present cost of

Nine Per Cent.,

And it is believed that on the completion of the road, like the Government Bonds, they will go above par. The Company intend to sell but a limited amount at the present low rate, and retain the right to advance the price at their option.

172 ACRES—CHARTIERS VALLEY FARM, with rich coal vein.—On TUESDAY EVENING, July 16th, at 8 o'clock, will be sold, on second floor of Commercial Sales Rooms, 106 Smithfield street, the well known valuable farm of the late Dr. Robert Thompson, situate in South Fayette township, at the junction of the Hickory road with Washington turnpike, immediately on the line of the Chartiers Valley Railroad, and adjoining the village of Bridgeville, situated in the beautiful Chartiers valley, only nine miles drive from the city, or about one mile beyond the well known Garret Tavern, or Woodville Inn, on Washington pike; it contains 171 acres and 143 perches, of the richest land in Allegheny county, all of which, except fifty acres fine timber land, are under good cultivation. This farm is not surpassed by any other in the State, and is celebrated for its wheat crops. It is underlaid with 131 Acres of Coal, of the rich Pittsburgh vein, with such extra facility for working as gives it the key to this entire coal region. There are several springs of excellent water, and the whole farm is well enclosed with good fences.

The improvements are a two-story frame dwelling, in good order, and an excellent barn. Plan of the property can be seen at the Auction Rooms. Those wishing to view the premises can call on H. H. B. THOMPSON, at Bridgeville.

The Pittsburgh Gazette

The Venality of the Legal Profession.

From developments which have been made recently, says the Steubenville Herald, it is very evident that an unusual amount of corruption has crept into the legal profession. Attorneys have usually assumed more than laws contemplate,—and, their venality now, excites general alarm, as it is likely, in the future prosecution of criminal cases to defeat the ends of justice, and shake public confidence, in the acts not only of attorneys but in rulings of courts. The Guernsey county Bar, like some other bars, the public are cognizant of, needs "weeding out," if we are permitted to judge from an expose in the Times, resulting from recent developments, in the Oliver and Hartup murder case, originating in a quarrel between two attorneys for the defense. The Times says: The names of these men, who were convicted of the murder of one of our citizens, and executed about two years since, and who had almost ceased to be mentioned among us, are now frequently heard in our town, and of course bring to mind the whole case of that diabolical murder. The revival of this case as a subject of conversation has been caused by the falling out of two of the attorneys for the defense, Savage and Creighton, and the charges and revelations they are making against each other concerning the part they took in the case. Already disclosures of a startling character have been made by them, and threats have been made of further developments. We have heard that Savage charges Creighton with having formed the acquaintance of Oliver and Hartup before the murder, that he knew they contemplated murdering John Cook, and that he made an arrangement with them to come to his office on a certain night and he would point out Mr. Cook to them—that they came, but did not see Creighton that evening. That after the taking of the prisoners to Columbus, and word coming here that they were to be executed on a certain day, Creighton came to him and gave him twenty dollars to go to Columbus to prevent them from implicating him in the murder, if they made a confession. Creighton charges Savage with subordination of perjury, in that he induced Mollie Hays and one or two others to commit the crime of perjury in their testimony in the murder case. That Savage made his brags that he was too smart for Mr. Farrar, and that he fixed the dates for one of the female witnesses of the murderers. That Oliver desired to poison Sheriff Stewart, and that for that purpose Savage went to Zanesville and procured the poison, brought it to the office of Creighton, and desired him (Creighton) to take it to the jail and give it to Oliver. Further revelations are threatened, and it may be that future developments will throw light on some things connected with the case that have seemed strange and mysterious.

Ohio River Improvement—Meeting of the Pittsburgh Committee.

Monday forenoon a meeting of the Pittsburgh River Improvement Committee was held at the Mayor's office, at which a considerable number of steamboatmen and other business men were in attendance. Hon. W. C. McCarthy, Mayor, was called to the chair, and Mr. Joseph Hazlett designated as Secretary. A number of speeches were made on the subject of river improvement, among others by Mr. A. M. Bryson, who has recently made a tour of all the river cities. He said that the commerce of the western rivers during 1866 was over eight million tons. When the contemplated improvement was completed he said there would be a reduction of over ten cents per hundred on the cost of transportation, which, without any increase in the amount of commerce would be a saving—a putting into the pockets of producers, and through them into the hands of laborers, merchants and mechanics, of $16,000,000. Add to this the amount saved from decrease in losses, reduction in insurance, avoiding damage in transfer, &c., and in one year this great valley will save more than three times the cost of all these improvements. We may rely for support in this movement upon Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Minnesota, Nevada, Tennessee, and particularly Missouri, Iowa and Ohio. These States are all too intimately interested in the improvements to fail of all the support they can possibly give them. The vital import of the enterprise to Pittsburgh and Pittsburghers was dwelt upon at length, and the speaker when he sat down, had far firmer believers in the meeting than when he arose. Other addresses were made by those present.

Capt. Beitzhoover thought that in consideration of the importance of the subject, it would be advisable to hold a public meeting to-day. This suggestion was acted upon, and it was resolved to hold a meeting for public attendance at the Board of Trade Rooms, this forenoon at ten o'clock.

A committee was appointed to make arrangements for the meeting.

Should be Looked Up.

During the trial of Frank J. Guth for burglary and larceny, in the Criminal Court, a short time since, it was urged in his defense, and not without some ground, that the real culprit in the matter was one Otto Furstiga, who, just previous to the discovery of the stolen goods in Guth's house, conveniently disappeared, and although industriously sought after by the police, has not been apprehended. This man Furstiga has the reputation of being an accomplished thief, and has enjoyed the accommodations of the Penitentiary for horse stealing. Guth's mother-in-law occupied apartments in his (Guth's) house at Lawrenceville, and had Furstiga for a boarder. Furstiga disappeared during the night preceding the day on which the house was searched and the stolen property discovered. Hence, it is believed, by those interested in behalf of Guth, that Furstiga was the real thief. It is further stated that Furstiga was harbored, or allowed to board at the house, against the wishes of Guth, his mother-in-law insisting that as he paid his way he should remain. Guth, however, was tried and convicted, and is now serving out a two months' jail sentence, and further discussion as to his guilt or innocence can avail him nothing.

This man Furstiga, however, should be looked up. A few days since, he made his appearance in the Fifth ward on horseback, went to the house of Chief of Police Scott, proclaimed who he was, and said he was prepared to give the Chief a race. Subsequently he appeared in beer halls, boastingly announced himself as Furstiga, and desired strangers to take a "good look" at him. The police finally got track of him, but nothing more, having made himself scarce when there was any likelihood of being cornered. He is said to be well educated, master of different languages, and more than ordinarily shrewd. He is putting his attainments to very bad use, and will eventually be brought to account.

New Township.—The Court of Quarter Sessions, on Saturday last, ordered an election to be held in Robinson township, on Thursday, August 1st, to decide upon the proposed division of that township into two. It is proposed to run the line from Chartiers Creek to the Hookstown road, along the Steubenville pike, and thence along the Hookstown road to Montour's run, the portion of the old township north of this line to retain the name of Robinson.

Burglary.—Dwelling house No. 165 Second street was burglariously entered during Sunday night, and a number of articles taken, of trifling value compared with others left undisturbed and within easy reach. The thief carried off a fine shirt, pair of morocco shoes, pair of gaiters, and a table cloth. He escaped without detection.

STATE OF KANSAS.

[Special Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.]

St. Louis, July 8th, 1867.

TOWNS IN KANSAS.

Of the remaining towns in Kansas which I have seen, Junction City, Solomon City, Salina and Ellsworth—I have already spoken pretty fully, and need say but little more. They are all ambitious little places, and are all the creatures of this road. Each is the centre of a large and fertile district, with which it will grow.

situated as it is at the lower end of the fine valley of the Republican river, and only eighteen or twenty miles from the head of Neosha valley—probably the finest wheat growing portion of Kansas—with which the people of that town hope ere long to be connected by railroad—has aspirations far beyond those of a mere county seat or the centre of a good agricultural surrounding.

I was much pleased with the spirit of enterprise everywhere manifested in this new and bustling place; yet there was much about it that did not strike me favorably. To have a superabundance of saloons and restaurants, and not a single finished church edifice or a commodious school room, is not the way to begin a city. There is a spirited daily paper published here by a Mr. Martin, a Pennsylvanian, a gentleman who is probably doing more for Junction City than any other man in it. Of the peculiar building stone found here in exhaustless abundance, I have already spoken at length.

SOLOMON CITY.

This new city is situated at the confluence of the Solomon river and the Smoky Hill, nearly forty miles west of Junction City. I did not stop at it, and of its prospects I am unable to speak. If it can draw to it the trade of the fine valley of the Solomon it will be a prosperous place.

SALINA.

This is the place where I was flood-bound for a week, and of which I have already spoken pretty fully. Being the centre and county seat of a large and very fertile country, and near to the salt springs, the gypsum beds, and the other deposits of valuable minerals, its steady prosperity is sure.

Two excellent and active christian ladies, Mrs. Bickerdyke and Mrs. Green, are about establishing a first class eating house at the railroad depot, at which trains will stop for meals. Nothing is more needed at Salina than such a house. The labors of Mrs. Bickerdyke as a missionary and nurse among the soldiers during the war have given her an honorable place among the "Women of the War," whose names and good deeds will go down on the page of history. Of course the house will be conducted on strictly temperance principles.

There are some minor places and some newly laid out towns which it is not necessary in this place to mention. These, (spoken of in this and the two preceding letters,) are all the towns of any importance in which I have been.

THE NEOSHO VALLEY.

This is the name of what is claimed to be the most fertile valley in Kansas, and, next to that of the Kansas, the most extensive. The Neosho river is a tributary of the Arkansas. It rises on the southern slope of a ridge or swell of no great elevation a few miles south of the Smoky Hill, about the meridian of Fort Riley, and pursues a south eastern course until it reaches the neighborhood of the flourishing town of Humboldt, one hundred miles south of Lawrence. Thence its course is due south into the Indian territory and to the Arkansas. Its length in the State of Kansas is not much less than two hundred miles. The valley is very wide.

This valley is supposed to be the best wheat land in the United States. Forty bushels to the acre is not unusual. A farmer at Carlisle, in Allen county, raised forty bushels per acre on a field of forty acres. Allen county lies south of Lawrence. Mr. Ice, of Chase county, which lies south of Fort Riley, raised in 1866, eight hundred and twenty bushels of wheat on sixteen acres, being fifty-four and one-fourth bushels to the acre. Judge Bailey, of the Supreme Court of Kansas, who gave me these facts, attributes the extreme productiveness of that valley to the washings of the immense deposits of gypsum existing on the head waters of that stream.

Judge Baily, in speaking of stock, told me that heifers in the southern counties of Kansas, almost invariably produce calves at the age of two years, and frequently at a less age. He mentioned one case of his own personal knowledge where the age of the mother was less than a year and a half. This precocity must greatly facilitate the rearing of cattle in that country.

The town of Humboldt, in Allen county, has a population of over 1,500. It has four church edifices, and has good schools. It was burned by the rebels in 1862. Emporia is another flourishing town in the Neosho valley, south of Topeka. There are many others.

To show how that country is settling up it is only necessary to state the fact, which I find in a statement before me, made by official authority, that during the first fifteen days of June, 1867, there were located in the land office at Humboldt 49,320 acres of land.

In these letters I have said more about Kansas than I at first intended, and I have done so because the more I saw of it, and considered it, and the more I mingled with its truly intelligent and generous people, the more I was pleased with it. Perhaps equal to Illinois in fertility, it is far more beautiful and salubrious. In no part that I have seen is the idea of monotony even suggested. But it has its drawbacks. Wood is scarce, and its short winters—confined to January, February and part of March, are often sharp and severe, with high winds. Water is abundant and good, whether in streams, or springs, or wells. I drank none in that State that was not sweet and wholesome. There is rain enough. From Leavenworth to Fort Harker I talked with the people about this, and the unvarying testimony was, that there had been no lack of rain since 1860, which was a very dry year. But contrary as it may seem to the common impression, that draught was less felt at Salina and Fort Harker than in the more eastern portions of the State.

The seasons there are peculiar. The winters are dry. In the latter part of March the rainy season begins and continues into June. After that there is but little rain until the following spring. The rain falls in great heavy showers. I witnessed some such as I never saw in the Eastern States. A rainy day is a thing unknown in Kansas, or what we call a "drizzle." After a shower the ground dries up directly. The latter part of summer is almost uniformly clear and dry, and the rays of the sun pour down through the clear atmosphere with great intensity, but the heat is mitigated by an almost constant breeze. The fall months, to the last of December, are dry and pleasant. I was at Fort Riley last November, and found the weather bright, and quite warm and clear, and the roads dusty.

Any man who may think of going to Kansas as a farmer, must bear in mind that he needs a good deal more than a tract of land to begin with. He cannot there improvise a dwelling in a day or two, as the first settlers of the "back woods" did, and many things which could there be obtained easily and at his door, are not to be had here. He had better take at least a part of his house with him, and as much money as will enable him to fence and break up at least one good field. Arrange to have fruit trees sent on as soon as the ground can be prepared for their reception. Never mind agricultural implements, for they can be obtained there cheaper and better than they can be brought from the east. Plant trees quickly and plenty of them, for fruit, for shade from the sun and shelter from the winds, and for beauty. I only saw one farm in the Kansas valley that I thought had trees enough, and it was very beautiful.

It is wonderful how vigorously, beautifully and rapidly trees grow in that country. They really look as if they themselves were rejoicing in their fulness of life, as if, in the poetic language of the prophet, they would "clap their hands." I think I am more of a cold utilitarian than an enthusiast, but truly those Kansas trees awakened emotions that bordered on enthusiasm.

I know of no situation where a man, who should go out without proper provision and forecast and set himself down upon one of those broad prairies, would feel so utterly destitute, helpless and forlorn. But let him ascertain what he has to do, and prepare himself to do it, and there is probably no place on this earth where, in so short a time, he can have a valuable and productive farm and a most desirable home.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞ SECOND BANKERS' AND MERCHANTS' GRAND PRESENTATION ENTERTAINMENT, will most positively take place at IRVING HALL, on the evening of July 24th, 1867. The largest, greatest and most successful enterprise ever inaugurated in the world. A Present with every ticket.

The First Grand Concert was given on July 4th. It was a grand success. The mammoth Hall was filled with the elite of the city. The audience appointed a committee of nine of the leading Bankers and Merchants, to examine the corresponding numbers to the tickets and the Register Books, to see that all is correct before making the grand distribution of prizes at the last Concert, on the 24th of July.

A gift with every ticket. The Grand Distribution of presents will be conducted on the Mutual Benefit principle. A pro-rata Distribution of Profits to Ticket holders. Capital, $1,287,148. Tickets, $1 each. A present with every ticket.

A reference to the number of presents and the general plan of distribution, given below, will convince the most skeptical of the great advantages which will accrue to all who participate in the enterprise; and the commercial and financial standing of the company, and the managers and bankers thereof, will, they hope, prove a sufficient guarantee of the fairness and impartiality with which everything in connection with it will be conducted, and that the interests of ticket holders will be most scrupulously watched over and guarded. In fact it is the desire of the managers to conduct every transaction for the mutual benefit of whoever shall purchase a ticket, and scrupulously to avoid any and everything which could in the slightest degree diminish the profits which are likely to accrue to all who invest. List of Presents: Cash—One cash present at $75,000; one cash present at $50,000; one cash present at $25,000; two cash presents at $10,000; three cash presents at $5,000; four cash presents at $3,000; five cash presents at $2,000; eight cash presents at $1,000; fourteen cash presents at $500; twenty cash presents at $300; twenty five cash presents at $200; forty cash presents at $100; seventy-five cash presents at $50; one hundred and forty cash presents at $25; one hundred and fifty cash presents at $20; one hundred and seventy-five cash presents at $10; two hundred cash presents at $5—864 cash presents, amounting to $250,000. To this end they have consigned the sale of tickets and the registering of the same to CLARK, WEBSTER & CO., Bankers and Managers, No. 62 Broadway, New York, who will keep the records in their custody until the day of the grand presentation entertainment, when they will be handed over to a committee selected by the audience to make an impartial distribution of presents. FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
MONDAY, July 15, 1867.

The New York stock quotations to-day, as received by Mr. P. R. Mertz, were as follows: Gold, 139½; Eighty-one bonds, 110⅝; Five Twenties, 1862, 111¾; Five Twenties, 1864, 109¾; Five Twenties, 1865, 109⅝; ditto new, 108½; Seven Thirties, 107¾@107⅞; Ten Forties, 102⅛. Stocks—Erie Railroad, 72¼; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 93⅞; Chicago and Rock Island, 98¾; Chicago and Northwestern, 46⅝; Chicago and Northwestern preferred 60¼; Fort Wayne Railroad, 102¾; Michigan Southern Railroad, 81¾; New York Central, 106⅞; Reading, 104⅝. Mining shares, Corydon, 2,00; Quartz Hill, 2,00; Gregory, 7,00; Smith & Paramalee, 5,95.

In consequence of the heavy shipments of gold on Saturday last the market kept firm, and advanced to-day to 139¾, nevertheless there is no desire to speculate for a rise, and should Five Twenties of 1862, decline, which is quite probable, sufficient to admit shipping them at a small profit, gold would immediately decline from two to three per cent. Bonds are lower, and large dealers are willing to make concessions. The decline is much more in the currency bonds than in gold bonds, and has had the effect of stopping investment for the present. Railroad shares were lower this morning, but rallied as soon as it was ascertained that all the rumors put afloat last week regarding bank movements and election tricks proved false, and new purchasers with capital and courage to buy advanced the market higher than it was since December last. There is still room for an advance before the highest figures of last October are reached, but whoever is caught this time with a load of certificates of railroad stock will find it difficult to get out without serious losses.

The following statement exhibits the business of the Pittsburgh Clearing House, for the week ending Saturday, July 13th:

—On the position and prospects of the money market, the New York Financial Chronicle has the following observations:

In forecasting the immediate future of the money market one of the most significant facts is the payment on Monday of twenty-one millions of currency from the Treasury. Of this sum six millions are on account of the interest on the seven-thirties and fifteen millions for the principal and interest of the July compounds. The tendency which is likely to be produced by these disbursements in adding to the abundant supply of currency, and in facilitating the movements of capital is very obvious. The sudden flurry in Wall street last evening interposes for the moment a salutary restraint on the too buoyant forces, which for a fortnight or more have been impelling quotations higher and higher with an apparently resistly movement. The advance in the values of all descriptions of securities has been unusually rapid, and to be permanent it should from time to time receive a check.

The immediate cause of this sudden trouble was a rumor that a large national bank in Broadway had suspended payment. The story was speedily contradicted. It took its origin from the fact that the president of the bank is said to be a special partner in one of the dry goods firms reported at present in difficulties. As to the bank itself its resources are ample, and its constituency extensive; its management for some time past has been extremely conservative, and its position is regarded as unusually strong.

There are in other directions no threatening symptoms to impede the further movement of the money market in the direction of increased ease. Hence the disbursements of twenty-one millions from the Treasury may not improbably result in the fulfilment of some at least of the predictions of monetary ease and speculative buoyancy which they have elicited.

It is stated on what seems to be competent authority that Secretary McCulloch has determined to limit the redemption of compound notes to $30,000,000, out of the $80,000,000 maturing in 1867, and will exchange fifty millions of three per cent. certificates for an equal amount of compounds. As there is an accumulation of interest of $14,000,000 upon the compounds in 1867, which will be available to the banks, the maturing notes will not disturb the money market to the extent feared by many. The destruction of $30,000,000 of the existing reserve of the banks, and the reduction of interest on $50,000,000 more of reserve, are, however, movements toward specie payments which debtors and traders on borrowed capital should heed. This policy of using the certificates at all, when Five Twenties can be sold at 108½, is a yielding on the part of the Treasury, and the irredeemable paper money party which has not the courage to see the currency of the country restored to equal strength with that of our rival commercial neighbors.

With the present crop prospects fairly realized, lower prices follow as a matter of course for breadstuffs and provisions, which will secure in time lower prices for labor. A good crop will therefore reduce the amount of money required for commercial purposes so far that solvent paper will be as fully supplied from what remains of the paper money as they were when it was at its maximum, and speculation be rampant. The suspension of contraction is understood to be deemed expedient by the Secretary, to prevent hurting the insolvent part of the community. For sometime the Treasury has been vigorously working in the interest of the solvent part of the people, and the Secretary had in his power to fund all the floating debt of the 30th of July, 1867, beside redeeming a large portion of the legal tenders. His anticipated policy is a suspension of his past judicious course, and a direct and substantial support to the gold gamblers, speculators, and over-traders of the country.

There were reports in circulation this morning unfavorable to one of the up-town banks, growing out of the peremptory removal of an account and drawing legal tenders. In regard to these rumors, it is asserted by its officers that the bank was never stronger or upon a safer basis than now, and that its losses cannot reduce its surplus below $200,000 in any event, while it has on hand ample funds to meet all demands.

—The New York Bulletin says: "The recent failure of Geo. A. Wicks & Co., has created an unsettled feeling in the dry goods trade. To-day the failure of two other firms is reported, including Messrs. Lorsehiguk, Willard & Rhodes, dry goods commission merchants. The former connection of Mr. George Opdyke, as special partner, with two of the members of this firm has led to the mistaken report of his having failed. Mr. Opdyke is in no way connected with the above mentioned firm."

New York Cattle Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 15.—Receipts 4,702 beeves, 21,236 sheep and lambs, 17,119 swine. Beeves have been steady through the week and this morning, with not far from 1,500 cattle on sale, including some very fine Kentucky steers. The market opened with a fair demand, and sellers hold for a small advance in prices, asking 17½@18c for the best. Early sales were made, but before noon there was a tendency downward, and the market closed rather weak at a falling off of nearly ½c from the morning rates. Droves of ordinary to good Illinois cattle sold at 15@17c. Choice lots of heavy fat steers run out at 17@18c, generally 17@17¼. Sheep ruled steady during the week, but to-day are dull, and prices are ½c lower, closing by free offerings. Lambs are also a shade easier and in light demand; extra Sheep quoted at 6¾c, prime 6@6¼c, ordinary and common 5½@6c, and inferior 4½@5c. Lambs 9@10½, latter for extra. Hog market since Thursday active, and prices advanced on Saturday; receipts of 11 cars and with an active demand holders succeeded in establishing an advance of ⅛@1c for heavy prime corn fed, selling as high as 8¼c; today, however, with 23 car loads on sale and large arrivals, there was less tone and prices were ⅛c lower than on Saturday; the demand, however, was fair, and all offerings are disposed of at 7½@8c, chiefly 7¾@8, latter for heavy prime corn fed. Dressed Hogs also declined ⅛@¼c, closing at 9½@9¾c.

Chicago Lumber Market.

CHICAGO, July 13.—The lumber market remains in about the same condition as noted in our last report. The supply on the market is fully up to the requirements, and there is no disposition to buy largely; all grades are dull, and some dealers quote prices fully 50c lower. Shingles are in good request, and prices are [illegible] higher at $3 62½@3,75 afloat and on [illegible] are steady, quiet and unchanged.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
MONDAY, July 15, 1866.

The general markets are quiet but steady, with a continued fair jobbing business; but, as the demand for most of the leading commodities is restricted mainly to supplying immediate wants, we have but few round lot operations to record. So far as prices are concerned, there are but few changes, none of them worthy of special notice.

GRAIN—Wheat is quiet—none in market, and the same is true of Barley. Oats continue firm and advancing, notwithstanding the receipts are steadily increasing; we now quote at 78@80c, on track, and 83@85c in store. Rye is quiet and nominal at $1,35, but little offering. Corn is in better demand; sale of 350 bush White at 96c.

FLOUR—The market is steady, with a continued fair local demand, but prices are without quotable change. We continue to quote at $11 50@12,50 for Spring Wheat; $13@14 for Winter Wheat; and $16,50@17,50 for fancy brands. Rye Flour is in limited supply and unchanged—quoted at $8,25@8,50.

PROVISIONS—There is a steady demand for Shoulders and Hams, and prices have still further advanced; we now quote the former at 11c, and the latter at 22c; Ribbed Sides, 12½c, and Clear do, 13¾@13½c. Lard is firmer, and held at an advance, 13½c, though there is no perceptible improvement in the demand. Little or no inquiry for Mess Pork.

POTATOES—There is a continued fair demand for new crop, and we can report regular sales at $4@4,25 per bbl. Old crop nearly exhausted in this market.

OIL—Lard Oil is held at an advance; we now quote at 85c for No. 2, and $1,37 for No. 1.

EGGS—Owing to an improved demand, the market is firmer, and prices have advanced to 21c for fresh packed.

BUTTER—There is no improvement to note in the demand, and while the market is dull, prices remain unchanged—15@17c for prime fresh.

GREEN APPLES—Scarce and firm, and we now quote at $6 per bbl.

CHEESE—Is steady, with regular jobbing sales at 13@16c, according to quality.

DRIED FRUIT—Very dull, but nominally unchanged; we quote at 5@6c for Apples, and 8@10c for Peaches.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
MONDAY, July 15, 1867.

CRUDE—The market was wonderfully excited to-day, especially for spot oil, and compared with Saturday, prices have still further advanced. There was a sale of 5000 barrels, to be delivered within thirty days, buyer's option, at eleven, but it subsequently fell through in consequence of the gravity not coming up to what was expected on the part of the buyer. The fact of this sale failing through, however, does not alter the market, as it would have been consummated had the gravity been able to "stand fire," and it was reported that the same price was offered by another party, and some holders were asking twelve. We can report a sale of 2000 barrels—Saturday evening—on spot, at 10c, and 4000 bbls, to-day, to be delivered between now and December 1st, seller's option, at 9c, and 5000 bbls to be delivered on first water, on private terms. Private telegrams from Oil City report the market very much excited and firm firm at $2,70.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil was also very much excited to-day, and July and August deliveries have still further advanced, and, indeed, the later months are higher. We heard of a direct offer of 33c for all this month, buyer's option, and late in the day holders were asking 34@35c. Sale of 1000 bbls for August, at 29c; 1000 for September, at 29; and later in the day there was a sale of 500 bbls for all August, buyer's option, at 31. At 33c for this month and 31 for August, there is an advance of 2@3c compared with Saturday, and an advance of 12@14c within the past two or three weeks.

ARRIVALS—The following arrivals of oil were reported to-day:

RIVER NEWS.

The river at this point is still at low water mark, while the weather continues cloudy and unsettled, with frequent showers of rain. Business remains suspended at the landing, and there is but little prospect at present of any immediate improvement.

The St. Louis Republican says: A letter from Charles Arter, received by Mayor Trover yesterday, bearing date of the 21st ult., gives the following particulars concerning the mishap to the Trover: The "doctor" needing repairs, a landing was effected. During the night the river receded six feet, leaving the boat high and dry on the shore; but in a good position. The cargo was reshipped for Fort Benton, which the Trover would have reached in three days, at three cents per pound, and the boat abandoned. As there is no probability of such a rise as will relieve her, short of spring, she is considered the legitimate prey of the Indians. The machinery and furniture will not bear transportation to St. Louis, as no boat could be induced to freight them short of five or six cents per pound. There was an insurance of $10,000 on the boat, and a small amount on the stores. Upon the whole the undertaking will cost Charles some $8000 or $10,000 more than the freight bills will reimburse.

THE CANAL QUESTION.—That a canal of sufficient size should be constructed for the advantage of navigation around the falls no one will deny. The only question at issue is which side of the river would prove best for its location. On this subject the Louisville Courier says:

Now is the time for the Canal Commissioners to go to work in their survey for a site for the proposed new canal on the Indiana side of the falls. We hope to live to see that canal finished. Nothing short of seven miles will make it useful.

The much abused and almost constantly used Louisville and Portland Canal, is only two and one half miles in length, and with the expenditure of less than one-tenth of the sum thrown away on the Pacific Railroad, the enlargement of the canal could be completed, and all done in less time than it will take to even locate a canal on the other side of the river.

On the other hand, the New Albany Commercial says that a canal around the falls, on the Indiana side, is more to be desired than any other improvement around the falls, and that "the reports have hitherto invariably been favorable to its construction on the Indiana side; also that the people of the West, with the exception of Louisville, have ever been impressed with the possibility, if not the necessity, of a canal on the Indiana shore."

A correspondent in the Louisville Journal remarks:

The scientific reports on the subject, instead of favoring the Indiana canal, have pointedly condemned that scheme. By reference to the able report of 1863, we find that Capt. Cram estimated the cost of the Indiana canal by three different routes, as follows: By route No. 1, $1,405,146; No. 2, $2,903,647; and the canal on a high level with a feeder, at $7,308,361. These estimates, however, were for a much smaller canal than the board deemed necessary, and they reported that the probable cost of such canals, on a scale sufficient for the demands of commerce, would be for No. 1, over $5,000,000; for No. 2, $8,000,000, and for the canal on a high level, $8,000,000.

The ablest board that ever reported on this subject condemned the three Indiana routes emphatically, for reasons which they gave in detail, and reported that an improvement round the falls by means of an enlargement of the Louisville and Portland canal and its extension, so as to avoid the rocks at Sandy Island, will better accommodate the navigation than any canal around the falls on the Indiana shore of the river, and can be constructed for a sum less by at least $537,652 than the estimated cost of a canal of the enlarged dimensions of route No. 1, the least expensive of the two routes on the Indiana shore.

STEAMBOAT RACING.—The experiment of steamboat racing is very dangerous, and it is to be hoped that such contests will be discontinued. It is a hazardous business, imperiling the lives of all on board, and risking the safety of the boats themselves. True, it is very exciting sport to witness races on the great river, between the most elegant boats that glide over its surface, but, if carried beyond reason, accidents may be the result, hurling hundreds of human beings in to eternity in the twinkling of an eye, and shrouding communities, on account thereof, in sorrow and sadness. There are too many individuals who partake alone of the excitement pertaining to these great trials of speed, and who are unmindful and careless of the awful results that too frequently occur from them, and among this class, as is too often the case, can be numbered the officers and subordinates of the contesting crafts. And in view of the death and destruction that has hitherto attended affairs of the kind in question, we feel it our duty to protest against carrying the "sport" so far as to terminate in blood and misery from explosions, which have, alas, too often occurred under similar circumstances, and which are liable to again occur, when that great power, steam, is in the hands of men whose minds are muddled with excitement, and whose highest desire is to win, regardless of consequences.—Cin. Gazette.

During a trip of a Cumberland river boat last week, a sudden stoppage created considerable alarm among some of the passengers. One old lady got very excited and ran all over the boat inquiring what the trouble was. She finally run against one of the intelligent firemen, who allayed her fears by telling her that the bottom of the boat and the top of the earth had stuck together. She felt perfectly easy afterward.
